

THIRTEEN MILLION MEN SUMMONED TO REGISTER FOR MILITARY SERVICE

All Men from 18 to 45 in Continental United States are Called on By President Wilson to Enroll Sept. 12—Machinery in Provost Marshal General's Office All Set for Work.

Washington, Aug. 31. All men from 18 to 45 years old in the continental United States, except those in the army or navy or already registered, were summoned by President Wilson today to register for military service on Thursday, Sept. 12.

Machinery of the provost marshal general's office was set in motion to carry out the second great enrollment under a presidential proclamation issued soon after the president had signed the new manpower act extending the draft ages. The bill completed in congress yesterday had been sent to the White House for the president's signature today soon after the house and senate convened.

It is estimated that at least 12,778,758 men will register this time, compared with nearly ten million on the first registration of men from 21 to 31 on June 5, 1917.

General March has said all registrants called into the army will be in France before next June 30, swelling the American Expeditionary Force to more than four million men expected to win the war in 1919. The last to be called will be the youths in their 18th year, but those of that age who desire and who have the necessary qualifications may be inducted into service on October 30.

The provost marshal general estimates today places the number of men under 21 now in the army at about 245,000 and the number of those from 32 to 45 at 165,000.

The call of duty. In a proclamation issued immediately after he signed the new man-power bill, authorizing extension of the 21-31 draft ages, the president called on the young men of the nation to enroll on that day with local draft boards where they make their permanent homes.

"We solemnly purpose a decisive victory of arms," said the president, "and deliberately to devote the larger part of the military man-power of the nation to the accomplishment of that purpose."

It is the call of duty to which every true man in the country will respond with pride and the consciousness that in doing so he plays his part in vindication of a great cause at whose summons every true heart offers its supreme service.

The hours of registration will be from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m., and all state and local officials are called on to make immediate arrangements for maintenance of registration places on that day.

All men within the new ages, whether citizens of the United States or not, must register, unless they are diplomatic or consular representatives of foreign nations.

In case of illness on registration day, arrangements for tardy enrollment may be made with local boards, and men who expect to be absent from their homes may register by mail, sufficiently in advance that the registration record reaches the board by September 12.

If a man has not permanent residence, he is to register at the place he is on September 12, and those out of the country on that day are required to return within five days after their return.

At least thirteen million men will place themselves subject to call for war service under the new registration, it is estimated, although only those without dependents, in good health and otherwise qualified for arduous duties of soldier life are to be taken first.

Youths in Separate Group. "Youths in their eighteenth year will be placed in a separate group, the war department has announced, to be subject to a special educational program, and will not be called until the supply of other available men in the new classes is exhausted. This does not mean that their calling will be long deferred, however, inasmuch as it has been announced that all men in the new registration accepted for general service will be under arms by June 30, 1919. The man-power bill makes no specific provision for separate classification of 18-year-old boys and young men, but their treatment has been made on executive initiative.

Although the "work or fight" clause which would have affected striking workmen was taken out of the bill before passage yesterday, Provost Marshal General Crowder has planned to apply vigorously existing regulations relating to idle men or those engaged in non-essential employment to the newly registered men.

The man-power bill was signed today by presiding officers of the house and senate, and sent to the White House for the president's signature, which made the measure law. The president at once signed and issued the proclamation carrying the new draft provisions into action.

After citing the law and stating the regulations for registration, the president's proclamation read as follows: "Fifteen months ago the men of the country from twenty-one to thirty-one years of age were registered. Three months ago and again this month those who had just reached the age of 21 were added. It now remains to include all men between the ages of 18 and 45."

UNITED STATES CARGO, JOSEPH CUDAHY SUNK

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The United States cargo steamship Joseph Cudahy was torpedoed at sea about 700 miles from the English coast August 17 and 62 members of the crew are reported missing. Thirteen were rescued. Two submarines made the attack and two torpedoes struck the ship, the first striking the fuel tank and the second the engine room. The captain of the Cudahy reported that he was taken aboard one of the U-boats and questioned.

The ship was torpedoed about 12:30 o'clock at night and apparently went down quickly. How many if any of the sailors lost their lives in the explosion has not been reported.

Fifteen Brought Ashore. An Atlantic Port, Aug. 31.—A British steamer arrived here today bringing fifteen men, said to be survivors of the American cargo steamer Joseph Cudahy, sunk by a submarine Aug. 17, seven hundred miles off the British coast. The men report a Greek steamer picked up other members of the crew of their ship and that they were also brought here today.

Savvy authorities tonight declined to state whether the men are from the Cudahy. The number of men picked up by the Greek ship could not be ascertained.

PACIFIST BOOKS BARRED FROM ARMY CAMPS

Order Sent from Washington to All Camp Librarians By Dr. Putnam, Director of War Service.

New York, Aug. 31.—On Aug. 9 an order was sent from Washington to all camp librarians by Dr. Herbert Putnam, Librarian of Congress, and director of the Library War Service, in which he added:

"It has been recently brought to our attention that pamphlets of a pacifist character are being sent to camp librarians. Please watch for them and destroy them."

The American library association distributes books and magazines to the soldiers, sailors and marines thru the Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and kindred organizations. More than 3,000,000 books have been donated in addition to those purchased. All books and pamphlets it was stated were subjected to examination and selection.

"Although it was admitted there had been instances where seditious or pacifist pamphlets had been surreptitiously placed on the open shelves of the libraries, so far as known none of the books upon which the war department has placed its ban have been found at any camps."

"The working personnel of the library war service," said an officer today, "is composed of trained librarians of proven loyalty and they are constantly on the alert against insidious attempts to corrupt our fighting men."

The books banned by Secretary Baker include:

"With the German Armies in the West." By Dr. Sven Hedin, Swedish explorer.

"Approaches to the Peace Settlement." By E. G. Blach.

"Prison Memoirs of an Anarchist." By Alexander Berkman.

"Americas Relation to the Great War." By John W. Burgess.

"World in Perplexity." By Arthur G. Daniells.

"England's World Empire." By A. H. Granter.

"England or Germany." By Frank Harris.

War News Summary News of Activities On Various Battle Fronts in Summarized Form By Associated Press.

Mont St. Quentin, dominating Peronne and the angle of the Somme river has been taken by the Australians, together with Feuillicourt, lying west. In this operation a surprise attack, more than 1500 prisoners were taken, the way is now prepared for the occupation of Peronne and further important advance to the east.

Simultaneously the French have broken down resistance of heavy German forces along the Canal du Nord and north of Soissons. The Soissons area they have in complete possession of Justilly, Croix and have reached the northern outskirts of Leury.

Withstanding that allied progress has slowed, somewhat owing to reinforcements Germans have complete possession of Justilly, hold vital points, there has been no cessation of allied thrusts along the entire eighty mile front and with minor exceptions these thrusts have been successful.

A gain of great importance in the Lys sector has been made by the British who are now in possession of that much fought over ground, Kemmel Hill.

Fighting desperately to delay the allied forces until the retreating German legions can be extricated from the Somme and Sarraville battlefields and placed in comparative safety behind the Hindenburg line General Ludendorff's armies seem for the time being to have almost checked the advance of the British, French and Americans.

At only one point in Picardy have the Germans been forced to give ground during the past day. This is just to the north of Peronne where the Somme river turns to the westward after flowing north along the front. Here the British have advanced a considerable distance, according to advisers from the field but they have not continued the victorious sweep that marked their progress after the German line had given way southeast of Bapaume.

In the south near Soissons French and Americans are keeping up their pressure against the German lines, which threatens to outflank the enemy positions along the Aisne and Flanders.

Further north the French have made only local gains in their effort to reach Coudry-le-Chateau and capture the heights which dominate the old German positions along the Chemin-des-Dames.

Westward from the Ailette along the Oise and northward to the Somme river west of Tam the French are fighting hard but their advance is slow. North of the Somme battlefield proper the Germans, seeing the danger to their entire army in further inroads of the British across the Hindenburg line southeast and east of Arras have massed men and guns to hold that portion of the front secure. British forces have nearly broken thru in that region and the danger to the Germans is not yet over.

In the Flanders battle area the Germans now are rapidly retiring to their lines running near Armentieres which they stormed late in April.

Mont Kemmel, southwest of Ypres has been taken by the British while Bailleul where there was a terrific fighting, when the Germans were striving to reach the channel ports, is again in the hands of Field Marshal Haig's men.

Further south the Germans are now east of the Lawe river and the British have taken more ground to the northeast of Bethune. As early as it is possible the Germans are striving to reach the channel ports, is again in the hands of Field Marshal Haig's men.

Imperial Chancellor von Hertling who has held his difficult post since last November is said to be about to resign because of his advanced age. It is reported that Dr. W. S. Solf, the German colonial secretary, will succeed him.

Solf recently made an important announcement that the disposition of Germany's colonies after the war is of the utmost importance and that Germany's policy must be so shaped that she will retain her foreign possessions. Parts of his address were looked upon as a veiled suggestion that colonial possessions might be made.

Nikolai Lenin, the Bolshevik premier is reported to have been wounded in two places by a would-be assassin but did not become unconscious. No details are as yet known of Lenin's injuries.

Delayed reports say Bolshevik forces along Usseri river are defeated by allies.

LONDON POLICE STRIKE SETTLED

LONDON, Aug. 31.—The strike of the London policemen composed of more than 22,000 men in the metropolitan district and the "city" has been settled.

Agreement between the government and the strikers was reached this afternoon at a conference at which the demands of the policemen were met by the government. The police will receive a minimum wage of 43 shillings (10.32) weekly and a maximum wage of 53 shillings (12.72) plus a war bonus of £288 and also 10 shillings of school age, two shillings six pence for other children. After 26 years service policemen may retire on pension of 35 shillings ($8.40).

Recognition of the national union of police and prison officers as a federation but not as a trade union has been granted by the government as well as reinstatement of a constable who was discharged because of his activities in organizing the policemen's union.

POSTPONE ACTION ON AGRICULTURAL BILL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Opposition to items in the emergency agricultural appropriation bill carrying the amendment for national prohibition beginning next July prevented the senate from disposing of the measure today and postponed final action until next week.

Senator Kanyon of Iowa, proposed today to strike out items in the bill aggregating more than $300,000 which he said are totally unnecessary in stimulating food production.

Failure of the food administration to prevent extortion was charged by Senator Sherman of Illinois, who said the administration's "only real attempts were in regulating flour and a few other prices."

INCREASES DENIED

Washington, Aug. 31.—In denying today a further increase in wages to haddarriers and other laborers employed on the $28,000,000 Terminal at South Boston, Mass., the war department announced its intention of seeing to it that the government's agreement with union labor to pay "prevailing local scales" is not used to force local wage scales upward. The government had agreed to pay 47 1/2 cents per hour for a ten hour work day or 43 1/2 cents per hour for an 8 hour day with time and a half for overtime. The local scale is now 47 1/2 cents an hour.

LOWERS RECAPED

New York, Aug. 31.—At Sheepshead Bay Speedway Ralph DePalma today clipped six seconds from the track record, covering four miles in two minutes and three seconds in exhibition at New York Police Field Games.

AMERICANS GIVE GERMANS HEAVY DOSE OF GAS

With the American Army on the Vesle Front, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Americans early Saturday gave the Germans in Fismette and its vicinity the heaviest dose of gas sent over since Americans and Germans took foothold along the Vesle. The Americans used mustard gas and observers after daylight reported Germans individually and in small groups were leaving lowlands, where gas fumes clung. The Germans answered with mustard gas, firing about a thousand shells. There was no infantry action.

Slight Advances Made. With the American Army on the Vesle Front, Aug. 31.—(By the Associated Press)—Americans made a slight advance in their line in the Vesle sector east of Bazoches early today. Germans not learning of the maneuver until nearly completed. The enemy started a barrage to drive out Americans, who dug in before daylight and held a position north of the Vesle along the railroad. Later Germans turned artillery on Americans, but did not use infantry.

SENATOR SHERMAN ASSAILS HENRY FORD

Compares Automobile Business With Meat Packers' Profits. Refers to Ford's Return to Government of $30,000,000 War Profits.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Profits of the meat packers, and of Henry Ford's automobile business were compared today by Senator Sherman of Illinois in discussing the federal trade commission's recent report condemning the packers as a monopoly making excessive profits. The profits made by the food administration are limited to 9 per cent.

Senator Sherman said, but profits of Ford's company in 1916 were 23.5 per cent.

"If the packers had made such profits," he added, "the trade commission would have been speechless with indignation."

Referring to Mr. Ford's recent announcement that he would return to the government $30,000,000 on profits on recent war orders, Senator Sherman said it would "help undo what he did as a pacifist before the war," but that the promise might better have been made before Mr. Ford became a candidate for the United States senate. He declared Mr. Ford's 23 year old son had been kept from military service because he was indispensable to the Ford management.

Senator Thomas of Colorado interrupted the senate to state that while he believed Ford could do more for his country in his present position than in the senate, in justice he wanted the senate to know Mr. Ford told him in June before he was a candidate for the senate, he intended to return all profits on government war contracts to the treasury.

Senator Sherman continued his attack saying some of Mr. Ford's former pacifist associates are under bonds or in the penitentiary, "why send Haywood to the penitentiary and elect Ford to the senate?"

The trade commission's recommendations for government control of the packing industry the senator declared follow the tendency "desired by the administration," citing government control over railroads, telegraphs, and telephone and other public utilities.

The measure will be taken up for consideration Thursday or Friday, and final disposal is expected within ten days.

All incomes above $5,000,000, 65 per cent.

These rates are in addition to the normal income tax rate of 16 per cent.

WILL MOBILIZE OCT. 1.

Washington, Aug. 31.—Members of the students' army training corps, youths between 18 and 21, will be mobilized October 1 at more than 300 colleges selected by the war department.

High school graduates will be eligible to the collegiate training division of the corps and the grammar school graduates may enter the vocational section. As the students show ability they will be transferred to new divisions and those showing special qualifications will be sent to officers' training schools. Others will be assigned to non-commissioned officers' schools.

BRITISH TAKE MONT ST. QUENTIN; GERMANS IN A PRECARIOUS POSITION

Australians Take Many Prisoners and Guns in Capture of City of Feuillicourt—Enemy in Great Danger of Being Pocketed in the Peronne—Huns Retiring Everywhere.

With the British Army in France, Aug. 31.—By the Associated Press—With Mont St. Quentin in British possession the Germans to the north and south for a considerable distance are placed in a precarious position. Peronne itself must be evacuated and if this is not done quickly, the enemy may lose many more men here.

Starting out from east of Glery about 5 o'clock in the morning the Australians fought their way forward despite the heavy fire from the Boche guns and swarmed into Feuillicourt. They captured 200 Germans.

About the same time another body of Australians unaided by artillery attacked Mont St. Quentin and by 8 o'clock fought their way to the top of the Mont and soon after that signalled its capture. Mont St. Quentin was alive with Germans who came from everywhere and cried, Kamerad.

Those who did not were driven from their retreats or killed with grenades and bombs. Hundreds of prisoners were captured at this place.

Deliver Counter Attacks. Several counter attacks delivered during the day east of Bapaume astride the road to Cambrai literally withered away before the fire of the British machine guns. The road to Cambrai and the ground on either side for some distance was dotted with the bodies of Germans, who dashed against the British in useless attempts to drive them from the positions they had captured.

About the same time the Germans were beaten here the Canadians launched a fresh attack just south of the Arras-Cambrai road and drove into the enemy lines for some distance. Heavy fighting is reported to be still in progress between the Arras-Cambrai and the Bapaume-Cambrai roads.

British troops have come close up to the Drocourt-Queant line and are holding on, while the Boche is trying desperately to dislodge them. Counter attack after counter attack has been launched here and the battle has been raging constantly, first forward, then backward, neither side being given a chance by the other to get the slightest rest.

Heavy Attacks Driven Off. The instant German counter attacks are beaten off, the British re-attack and gain a little more ground. If the British fall back slightly before powerful Boche strokes, as soon as they have quieted down a little the British attack and hurl the Germans out, not only gaining ground, but improving their positions. The Germans have fought well in this locality, but have gained nothing, and have suffered enormous casualties. Longatte and Ecourt, from which the British retired yesterday, were retaken and the number of prisoners increased.

Bullecourt is being mopped up. South of Bapaume the British have captured Riencourt-les-Bapaumes.

Haig's Daily Report. London, Aug. 31.—In the capture of Mont St. Quentin north of Peronne, and Feuillicourt, more than 1,500 prisoners were taken by the British, according to Field Marshal Haig's report tonight. The British losses were small.

The statement says: "By a daring and brilliantly executed night operation, carried out with great dash and enterprise, the Australians seized the hill and village of Mont St. Quentin, north of Peronne, thereby gaining possession of an important tactical feature commanding the angle of the Somme river."

"The same operation captured the village of Feuillicourt. Over 1,500 prisoners were taken. Our casualties were exceptionally light. This morning English troops attacked on the left of the Australians, with complete success, and captured Martrees wood and the high ground east and north of this with a considerable number of prisoners."

"During the day hostile counter attacks launched against the Australians and English were successfully repulsed."

"Attacks this morning by strong hostile forces astride the Bapaume road were driven off with heavy losses. In this neighborhood the English completed the capture of Riencourt-les-Bapaumes, taking a number of prisoners and a few guns. At certain points between Vaux-Vraucourt and Bullecourt prisoners were taken and our positions improved slightly. Strong counter attacks in this sector again led to hard fighting. The situation has not changed materially."

"Further north Canadian troops carried out successfully a local operation immediately across and south of the Arras-Cambrai road, inflicting many casualties and capturing machine guns."

"Between the Sensee and Scarpe rivers the English troops pushed their line forward 1,500 yards toward the Tringuis river."

"The increasing demand upon the enemy reserves due firstly to the enormous casualties in his massed attacks in the first part of the year and secondly to heavy casualties in killed, wounded and prisoners by a series of successful

AMERICANS BOMB GERMAN TOWNS

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE LORRAINE FRONT Friday, Aug. 30.—(By The A. P.)—American bombing machines this morning successfully attacked railway yards and buildings at Conflans. Several direct bursts were observed and enemy pursuit planes followed the invading Americans back to their lines but did not attack them.

At noon American airmen dropped bombs on the railway yards at Longvilly, scoring several direct hits. Late in the afternoon Conflans was again raided but poor visibility made it difficult to ascertain whether the bombing was effective. Enemy anti-aircraft guns were active against the American raiders in all three localities.

All of our machines returned. One lone American aviator today attacked a German who was driving at a French balloon. Despite the fact that there were six German airmen above him, the American forced the German machine into a nose dive. The six other Germans then attacked the American and forced him to descend. He landed behind the American lines uninjured.

MANY GRADUATE AT CAMP TAYLOR

CAMP ZACHARY TAYLOR, Ky., Aug. 31.—In the 85 years from 1802 to 1887 the number of officers graduated from the military academy at West Point was not equal to the number of graduates to receive their commissions today at the Field Artillery Central Officers' Training school here.

Included in the class of more than 2,500 are men from every state in the Union. Among them are thirty-five negroes, the first of their race to be made officers at the field artillery training school.

Hundreds of candidates for commissions are arriving at the school each week. Among the recent arrivals is Sumner Gerard son of the former American ambassador to Germany.

VISITS CAMP DODGE.

Camp Dodge, Ia., Aug. 31.—F. C. Keppel, third assistant secretary of war, came to Camp Dodge today on an unannounced mission. It was said, unofficially that he was investigating treatment of conscientious objectors.

Not a New Policy.

"This is not a new policy. A century and a quarter ago it was deliberately ordained by those who were then responsible for the safety and defense of the nation that the duty of military service should not rest upon all able-bodied men between the ages of 18 and 45. We now accept and fulfill the obligation which they established, an obligation expressed in our national statutes from that time until now. We solemnly purpose a decisive victory of arms and deliberately to devote the larger part of the military man-power of the nation to the accomplishment of that purpose."

"The younger men have from the first been ready to go. They have furnished voluntary enlistments out of all proportion to their numbers. Our military authorities regard them as having the highest combatant qualities. Their youthful enthusiasm, their virile eagerness, their gallant spirit of daring make them the admiration of all who see them in action. They covet not only the distinction of serving in this great war, but also the inspiring memories which hundreds of thou-

SENATOR LEWIS

TALKED TOO MUCH.

Senator Lewis, if the dispatches quote him correctly, talked too much in London when he took issue with the recent statement of war aims made by Senator Lodge. It is unfortunate that any U. S. senator should lend his voice and influence to scatter abroad the suggestion that there is any division of feeling in this country as to war aims. This statement carries with it too the unjust and incorrect suggestion that government statements in the past with reference to America's war aims need not be considered as final—that is, subject to revision or change. Senator Lewis talked too much.

WAR TIME CRIME.

That was indeed a striking picture as gray-haired Judge Kenesaw M. Landis sat in his court room in Chicago to pass sentence upon the large group of I. W. W. workers sentenced after four months' trial for obstructing the U. S. war policy. Yet spectators knew that Judge Landis was giving painstaking attention to the pleas of the different defendants as they appeared before him. Occasionally he made notes with the intention of verifying certain statements. When sentences were passed it was evident too that the court had in several instances sought to temper justice with mercy. But the long terms of imprisonment given and the heavy fines imposed upon the principal defendants give the sure indication that Judge Landis counts obstructing the war course of the United States as one of the gravest of crimes in these days.

MILLIONS MORE TO MAKE VICTORY SURE.

The man-power bill has become a law by the signature of the president and almost at the same moment a proclamation was issued to the men affected, calling on them to register September 12. It is estimated that 13,000,000 men will thus become available for army service. It is the evident intention of the government to select first unmarried men without dependents, before taking men from the deferred classifications of those already registered. In the weeks and months succeeding September 12 it is the intention to call men to the colors so rapidly that by June, 1919, a United States army of 4,000,000 will be overseas.

It is an undertaking which would have appalled the American people a few years ago, but now it will be taken as a matter of course, as a vigorous and needed step, with the general understanding that the larger the force and the quicker the movement overseas, the nearer will be the end of the great conflict. There is a growing feeling among Americans that the prosecution of this vigorous troop policy will make it possible to end, or at least to decide, the war before the year 1919 closes.

The man-power bill is but another bit of evidence to prove the statement well founded that the United States is the greatest nation in the world.

THE OLD FASHIONED SUNDAY.

The Indianapolis News, in commenting on the fuel administration's request, says:

Having a few of the old-fashioned brand of Sundays is not going to hurt anybody. Men and women who are in the habit of riding many dusty miles every Sunday will find that they have feet and legs and that these useful members are admirably suited for the purpose of locomotion. Taking a walk is not so popular as it used to be, but those who have found and written about the beauties of nature, are not the people who went thru life at the rate of sixty miles an hour, or even thirty-five. Those who found nature to be beautiful and kindly were the people who gazed about them as they walked—walked, and not as they hurried from place to place.

The old habit of visiting the neighbors may be revived and, happy thought, the old custom of staying at home on Sunday afternoon, barring the use of the pleasure automobile on Sunday will give the riding public a chance to get its breath and its bearings. The gasoline is needed somewhere else and we ought to be willing to give it up without protest. And, bear in mind, there is nothing in the request to prevent the head of the family from going on his unimpaired and spending the afternoon on his back, under the car, learning all about its internal economy and diagnosing its ills.

THE SENATORIAL MENACE IN ILLINOIS.

(St. Louis Globe Democrat.) The Globe-Democrat has pointed to the danger that exists in the triangular fight for the republican nomination for senator in Illinois. The danger lies in the fact that Mayor Thompson, of Chicago, is one of the three candidates, and his nomination is possible by the division of the loyal vote between Mr. Foss and McCormick. It is needless to recall the record of Mayor Thompson. His position in relation to the war, to the measures necessary to the prosecution of the war, to the principles of true Americanism are too well known in Illinois, and elsewhere, to require discussion. His nomination would shame the republican party and his election would shame the great state of Illinois, whose record for stalwart and uncompromising patriotism has never been surpassed by any state in the Union. It has no disposition to stain that record now. It is no less American than it was in '61. It has backed the government in every movement for the advancement of the war to its fullest power. But there is in Illinois, as there is in every state, elements that respond to appeals to selfish interests and Mayor Thompson is endeavoring to gather about him the people who have no care for their country, but who are "concentrated all in self." There are enough of that sort to make a formidable following, and it is of the utmost importance that this man and these people be reprimanded by a decisive defeat.

There is no question about the loyalty and devoted patriotism of the great majority of the republicans of Illinois. The danger is in their division between two candidates, each of irreproachable record and each worthy of the senatorial honor. One of these must be sacrificed. The forces of Americanism within the party must rally around one of the candidates to the exclusion of the other, if Thompson is to be beaten. The situation is extraordinary and calls for extraordinary treatment. The Globe-Democrat has never been disposed to take sides in a primary contest, as its readers well know, but consideration of patriotism, this grave menace to Americanism, justice, and demands, that a choice be made. We make no distinction as to merit or patriotism, but we are convinced that Mr. McCormick is the man upon whom the loyal republicans of Illinois can and should unite. Mr. McCormick was in the field long before Mr. Foss, and he is better known to the people of the central and southern part of the state, if not in all of it, he has the better organization, and already the larger following. Plainly, he is the stronger candidate and the one nearest to win that vote which should sternly rebuke William Hale Thompson and his supporters.

AFFLICTED FRANCE.

The war has knocked things out of plumb; our comforts go, privations come, but let us on our woes be dumb, and think of France. It costs a lot to buy our rice, our succotash and prunes and ice, but let us promptly pay the price, and think of France. Our towns are standing on their sites; no bombs drop in and spoil our nights; to fuss and fret we have no rights—let's think of France. There is no stranger on our shore to paint the landscape red with gore and make some busy Bertha roar, but think of France! When I'm inclined to droop and mope, and lose my hold on faith and hope, discouraged by some speller's dope, I think of France. Some old time luxury I miss, some vanished comfort spoils my bliss; and then I hoot myself and hiss, and think of France. I hear men growl, with arctic feet; they find it hard to make ends meet, and then my message I repeat, "Oh, think of France!" I hear dames grumble here and there because they have no rags to wear, and I remark, "Oh, ladies fair, pray think of France!" Our ills are trifling things and brief, in one short hour they find relief; if we would know the soul of grief, we'll think of France.

A news telegram published recently indicated that the pay of members of selective draft boards had been increased because members in many localities are not receiving pay commensurate with the time spent in their duties. It is worthy of note that no member of the present local board of Morgan county has asked or received any pay from the government. In fact, Chairman Weir of the board yesterday in conversation stated that members of the board here did not expect to receive any pay from the government.

In honor of the limited service men who will leave for Camp Grant next Tuesday a brief service will be held on the court house steps. Rev. M. L. Pontius will make the address. A procession will then form and move to the Wabash station. Members of the G. A. R., Co. C, and other patriotic organizations are invited to take part.

STEAMBOATS TO AID IN WINNING THE WAR

Vessels in the Mississippi Will Relieve Heavy Transportation Burdens of Railroads — Mississippi Valley Waterways Association Has General Supervision of Project.

St. Louis, Aug. 30.—Steamboats that during the days of Mark Twain and since have plied the Mississippi, performing perfunctory duties not at all commensurate with the river's possibilities, are to be put to work to help win the war and will be augmented by boats of modern type; by barges and tow boats powerfully propelled and modernly equipped, capable of greatly relieving the heavy transportation burdens of the railroads.

A fleet of freight carrying boats running between New Orleans and St. Louis and on up the river, as necessity demands, has been designed, and the federal government has backed the project with millions of dollars. The Mississippi Valley Waterways association, representing varied interests throughout the valley, is exercising general supervision of the project.

Government To Aid in Work.
Revival of river traffic on a large scale was suggested months ago when freight congestion on the railroads became acute. Business men began to wonder why the broad expanse of the Mississippi could not be used to transport their freight expeditiously, and the idea took form in an application to the government for financial assistance to build and maintain a river fleet. The government appropriated $8,000,000 to be expended between St. Louis and New Orleans, and $3,600,000 to be used on the Upper Mississippi, between St. Louis and Minneapolis. These amounts, it is explained, are considered merely expressions of good will, and if the project gives promise of being successful as many millions as may be needed will be forthcoming.

After the general scheme had been worked out by the business interests in various river cities, co-operating with the government officials. M. J. Sanders, of New Orleans, was appointed federal manager. For years he has been identified with gulf shipping. Working with him are A. W. Mackie, regional manager, and Theodore Brent, who will supervise traffic details.

Begin Operations September 1.
Mr. Sanders assumed his duties early in July and immediately instituted a search for available craft with which to begin operation. He declared needs were too pressing to await construction of steel barges. After a survey of the district, he announced that forty barges and seven tow boats had been found and that by September 1 the barge line between St. Louis and New Orleans would be in operation on a weekly schedule.

Meanwhile orders for additional barges and tow boats were placed, and construction of docks begun. The latter, like the barges, are for the most part temporary make-shifts. In St. Louis, for instance, it was decided that the proposed municipally-owned dock costing $200,000 would require too long to build. Accordingly a small landing was erected at a cost of $15,000 to meet present needs.

Similar Activity Elsewhere.
Advices from other river cities indicate similar activity. New Orleans is making tremendous preparations for increased business and according to figures presented by its chamber of commerce, will probably expend $25,000,000 within the next year for docks and other terminal facilities. Memphis has announced that $200,000 will be expended on docks and equipment for handling freight. Cairo, Ill., will spend $100,000; Greenville, Miss., $100,000, and small towns in Arkansas will expend at least $25,000 in docks. These are merely first figures based on conservative estimates of increased business that will come to these towns. Pledges have been made for more money as necessity demands.

The Mississippi Valley Waterways association, which is an outgrowth of the traffic revival movement, has compiled a formidable array of evidence.

One 1,000 ton barge, association officers say, can carry as much freight as fifty cars, and if each towboat conveys three barges, the fleet as it enters New Orleans is equivalent to 150 cars, which are thereby released for other service. If seven towboats, each escorting three barges, are placed in operation on September 1, as has been planned, it will be seen that the transportation by water will have released 1,050 cars for other duties.

Shippers have shown a willingness to co-operate. Director Sanders estimates that 2,000,000 tons a year will be sufficient to make the line a financial success.

Joint Rail and Water Rate.
It is hoped further that a joint rail and water rate may be obtained under which shipment may be made over either transportation system. This would increase greatly the territory tributary to the line.

"What I want understood," said Director Sanders, "is that this is not comparable to any previous effort to revive river traffic. What we are going to do will be done in a wholly modern way, backed by the credit and war energy of the greatest country in the world."

"The cost of transport by water is approximately one-third the cost by rail. There is scant difference in the time required to deliver freight. Our upkeep is tremendously less than that of a railroad. In short, we have every opportunity to handle all classes of shipping at less cost than do the railroads and every bit as satisfactorily."

"Revival of traffic on the Mississippi is only part of the federal scheme to utilize the waterways. We are going to make a tremendous effort—an effort that is going to do its share to prove that the waterways of this country can assume one-third the burden that has at times almost broken the railroad's back."

IRELAND PROSPEROUS BECAUSE OF WAR.

Dublin, Aug. 30.—The general increased prosperity of Ireland under war conditions is again reflected in the reports now being issued of the principal banks. One bank of the farming and business community shows once more a great increase in the money lodged with it on deposit accounts amounting in the half year just closed to well over 3,000,000,000 pounds sterling. Another announces an increase in deposits of more than 5,250,000 pounds sterling.

LORD RHONDDA GIVES LARGE SUM TO COLLEGE.

London, Aug. 30.—The will of Lord Rhondda, late British Food Controller, bequeaths $10,000 to Caius College, Cambridge, preferably for the establishment and maintenance of six to ten scholarships for mathematics, natural science or moral science, and $100,000 to the Cardiff Infirmary.

Lord Rhondda states in his will "I make no other charitable gifts because I have devoted the greater part of my life to public affairs and I have already given large sums of money for charitable and public purposes."

CHANGE IN WORKING HOURS BENEFICIAL.

London, Aug. 30.—The abandonment of the system of work before breakfast and adoption of the system of an eight o'clock start in one of the great Paisley cotton thread factories, has resulted in the disappearance of bad time keeping, a practical cessation of sickness among girls in the first hours of the morning, when work started at six, better work being secured and maintained, and scarcely a noticeable reduction in the output.

IRELAND SUPPLIES AIRPLANE TIMBER.

Dublin, Aug. 30.—Ireland is plying ash timber sufficient for the construction of 10,000 airplanes.

A. E. F. MOST MORAL ARMY IN THE WORLD

American Expeditionary Forces Has This Distinction, According to Official Statements of U. S. Medical Corps — Vigorous Work and Diversified Recreations Important Factors.

Paris, Aug. 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—The more than a million men of the American Expeditionary Forces constitutes the most moral army in the world, according to official statements of the United States medical corps.

Attributing the extremely low percentage of affected men in the army to the medical programs of the United States forces, medical officers say that the two important factors in the production of the most moral army were vigorous work programs coupled with the diversified recreations of the camp and hygienic measures.

At a meeting of the British Research Society of the American Red Cross, consisting of the medical officers of the United States army, the plan now in operation in the training camps of the United States, where illicit houses and the liquor traffic is suppressed, was spoken of as highly productive of results.

The introduction in the training camps of the United States of athletic games, libraries, recreation halls under the Young Men's Christian association and other organizations, lectures and wholesome amusements, was hailed as a great step in the solution of the problem of vice in the army. The work of the chaplains, the universities and the press also was mentioned as playing a great part in the alleviation.

The education of men along moral lines conducted by the medical officers, through literature which was distributed among the men, by exhibits and through the agencies of the war department commission of training camp activities served to keep the men in the right mental attitude toward the problem, the medical officers stated.

THIRTEEN MILLION
MEN MUST REGISTER

sands of them will cherish thru the years to come of a great day and a great service for their country and for mankind.

"By the men of the older group now called upon, the opportunity now opened to them will be accepted with the calm resolution of those who realize to the full the deep and solemn significance of what they do.

The Supreme Call of the Day.

"Having made a place for themselves in their respective communities, having assumed at home the graver responsibilities of life in many spheres, looking back upon honorable records in civil and industrial life, they will realize as perhaps no others could how entirely their own fortunes and the fortunes of all whom they love are put at stake in this war for right and will know that the very records they have made render this new duty the commanding duty of their lives.

"They know how surely this is the nation's war, how imperatively it demands the mobilization and massing of all our resources of every kind. They will regard this call as the supreme call of their day and will answer it accordingly.

"Only a portion of those who register will be called upon to bear arms. Those who are not physically fit will be excused; those exempted by alien allegiances; those who should not be relieved of their present responsibilities; above all those who cannot be spared from the civil and industrial tasks at home upon which the success of our armies depends as much as upon the fighting at the front. But all must be registered in order that the selection for military service may be made intelligently and with full information. This will be our final demonstration of loyalty, democracy and the will to win, our solemn notice to all the world that we stand absolutely together in a common resolution and purpose.

"It is the call to duty to which every true man in the country will respond with pride and with the consciousness that in doing so he plays his part in vindication of a great cause at whose summons every true heart offers its supreme sacrifice."

ALASKANS REPORT FOR ARMY SERVICE

Youths Travel Many Hard Miles to Report Under Draft Calls—
Some Classified as Delinquents
Turn Failure to Receive Notification in Time.

Juneau, Alaska, Aug.—Draft calls for men in the remote and far away sections of Alaska have brought many youths out over many hard miles to report for service.

Hunters, trappers, traders and prospectors in answer to the draft calls, have come from the tundra country up along the Arctic, the hills and valleys along the Yukon River and the remote sections of southeastern and southwestern Alaska. They have been mobilized at Alaska forts and later sent to the states for training.

One young man, Claude Harrison, received his draft questionnaire as he was making plans for spending the coming winter hunting and trapping in the Lake Minchumina country, about sixty miles northwest of Mount McKinley.

Harrison immediately dropped his plans and set out on a 125 mile "mush" to the office of the United States commissioner at Kantishna. When he arrived he found the commissioner had gone to Nena, nearly 100 miles farther, so the long hike was continued until the official was found.

Twelve other young men, who gathered at Marshall, Alaska, to board a steamer for Nome, in answer to their calls, found on their arrivals that on account of the slowness of the mails, they had failed to receive their notification in time and were classed as delinquents. They were cleared of the charges when they explained the delay.

MILITARY POLICE
CORPS IN A. E. F.

With The American Army In France, Aug.—There has just been organized in the American Expeditionary Forces a special force called the military police corps. It will perform the duties heretofore discharged by the traffic police, headquarters guards and other similar organizations. The strength of the new corps is not fixed, but it is not to exceed a certain percentage of all the troops in the American army, both combatant and non-combatant. It starts with three lieutenant colonels, eleven majors and eighty eight captains and has its own training depot.

FAT RATION IN HOLLAND REDUCED

Washington, Aug. 31.—The fat ration in Holland has been reduced to slightly less than one ounce avoidupois daily for each person and further reduction is in prospect, according to advices of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. This ration not only includes butter eaten with bread, but also butter, margarine and other substitutes used in cooking.

The production of butter in Holland is about half of that of two years ago when there was enough for all ordinary purposes. The Dutch government has given notice that the fat ration may have to be cut to half an ounce before next spring. The butter shortage is attributed to the lack of fodder, which can not be imported.

PRISONERS OF WAR
ESCAPE FROM SIBERIA

New York, Aug. 31.—Eight Turkish officers, prisoners of war in Siberia, succeeded in escaping aided by the English Consul in Vladivostok and after a long, arduous journey, full of peril have reached New York. They were Arabs, forced into the Turkish army, and had seen service in the Caucasus and the Eastern front. They told of the hatred between the Austrian and German prisoners in Russia and said they never would congregate in the same place.

In the battle in Sari Ranish, one of the men said, Enver Pasha Chief of the Turkish staff escaped capture by only three minutes. He had been betrayed and a trap set for him.

The eight men expect to return to the Hephaz, where they will join the forces of King Hussein in league with the Entente Allies.

INVESTIGATE CHARGES
MADE BY LABOR LEADER

San Juan, Porto Rico, Aug.—The National War Board at Washington is taking steps to investigate charges made by Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, in May last, that Governor Yager, of Porto Rico had interfered with the efforts of Porto Rican workers to improve their conditions.

Santiago Iglesias, Porto Rican organizer for the American Federation of Labor has written to the Executive Council of the local organization here to set a date for an investigation to be conducted by a commission appointed by the War Labor Board.

Members of the Executive Council favor an immediate investigation but the acting president of the local federation, Prudente Martinez, advises postponing it until January or February when the wages of the Porto Rican cigar makers are to be reduced and when work in the cane fields and factories will be at its height.

WOMEN WANTED FOR CLERICAL SERVICE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—A nationwide campaign to recruit women qualified for trained clerical service has been planned by the United States employment service, to meet the acute and growing shortage of stenographers and typists for war work, particularly for government offices in Washington, which are outside the classified civil service, the department of labor announces.

It is estimated that 3,000 stenographers are needed in Washington by government offices alone. Applications must be made on special registration forms which are now being printed and which will be distributed to the 600 branch offices of the United States Employment Service, early in September.

CAPTAIN BOY-ED
WRITES BOOK

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Aug. 31.—(By The A. P.)—Captain Karl Boy-Ed, former German naval attaché at Washington who with Captain Franz Von Papen, former military attaché was credited with engineering German propaganda designed to keep the United States out of the war and was expelled by the American government, has come out with a book containing a fantastic account of his "investigations" in the United States, according to a prisoner taken north of Soissons. One of the captain's most striking "disclosures" is that the United States entered the war because of a secret treaty with Great Britain. He contends that had it not been for this alliance America would have kept out of the conflict.

The prisoner was thoroughly convinced, as he said his countrymen generally were, of the truth of the assertions.

Cross the sea, alive with "U"-boats,

Cross the Marne and hills of France;
But when it starts to "Hoch der Kaiser,"
That won't be a circumstance.

Sure, we all respect our "Tom-mies,"
And salute the English crew;
Lift our hats to dauntin' Belgium,

And "hurrah" our French "Pols,"
While we love our brave Italians,
Cheers for all of these, but say—

There's no army like the army
Of the U. S. A.

Here's to the boys in khaki,
With the guns and bayonet;
Gringos, they always get there
And they win, they win you bet.

And we always do respect 'em,
And we always will hurrah;
For they never have been licked,
sir—

Not the boys of U. S. A.

But like immortal Ares,
Noble, heroic, free;
Sired like Grant and Washington,
With blood from the veins of Lee.

And we always do respect 'em,
Always have, and always will;
Tho' they're mighty in for peace,
sir;

When they fight, they fight to kill.
So, once and again, we shout,
"Hooryay,"

As yonder he marches by:
The pride of a thousand thousand hearts,
The center of every eye.

For backin' 'em up, we will, sir,
And have in many a fray;
So here's to the boys in blue, sir,
HOORAY! HOORAY! HOORAY!

—Winston W. Wharton, Jacksonville, Illinois.

Welcome, September morn.

The new rule about Sunday joy riding don't bother us a bit.

National prohibition might as well become effective right away, as the price of liquor has soared so high a poor man can't buy a drink.

Illinois will save heat, says an exchange headline. There has certainly been plenty to save the past summer. If we could have saved all that was in our backyard we would have had enough to keep the house warm all winter.

Captain Falsman, a military writer, says the Germans have everything to lose in a big enemy advance. It looks like Germany was doomed for the loss.

After seeing Lieutenant McGinnis perform, we are more of the opinion than ever that we would prefer some other branch of the army to air service.

Bill Camp, in his Sidelights, in the Courier, Friday evening, said he looked over the paper Friday morning to find out about the "grand rally," but didn't discover it. Sorry we disappointed you, Bill, but we are glad to learn that you know what paper to read when you want to get the news.

We learn that the British threaten to outflank Ham. We have been unable to catch up with ham in the last year, much less to outflank it.

"Old Dobbin to come into her own Sunday," says the Springfield News-Record headlines. And for many years we have labored under the delusion that Dobbin was a he.

The policemen in London are striking for higher wages, while in Jacksonville they don't draw any wages at all, and still stick on the job.

Thanks for Them Kind Words. A few days ago Bill Camp, in commenting on "Gene Read's candidacy for congress, recalled the fact that he was the author of an opera for which we did the stage directing. Bill seemed to be in a good humor that day, and said that it was not half bad. We don't know whether he meant the opera or our directing, or both. However, we are going to take some of the compliment, for Bill seldom hands them out, except with the reverse English.

Why not go to church, for a change? G. W. D.

EXCERPTS FROM MAYOR THOMPSON'S SENATORIAL PLATFORM

To bring the present war to an early and a victorious conclusion for the United States, and to establish an honorable, a just and an American peace is the paramount business and duty of the Nation.

I will vote for appropriations of every character in the interest of and for the support of our American army and navy.

I favor a specific declaration by Congress of America's war aims and demands.

I am opposed to the propaganda of hate which seeks to divide our people on racial lines and thus weaken our national unity. We are of many races, but of one mind when it comes to protecting our country against any and all enemies.

I am in favor of such legislation as will effectively prevent the sale of American food products at a less price in foreign markets than in our own market.

I do not believe in putting dollars above human lives. So long as American manhood is conscripted for war service, I will vote to conscript wealth and all excess war profits.

I am in favor of observance of the law, without evasion, discrimination or equivocation, and I condemn all efforts to mete out punishment for alleged offenses by mob violence and lynch law. As United States Senator, I shall favor such congressional investigation and legislation as will tend to blot out this curse upon American institutions.

I affirm my allegiance to the principles of the Republican party as declared in its national platform.

Grandma Talks About Babies
Has a Large Circle of Listeners Who Profit by Her Wisdom and Experience.

In almost any community there is a grandma who knows Mother's Friend. Not only is she reminiscent of her own experience, but it was through her recommendation that so many expectant mothers derived the comfort and blessing of this famous remedy.

Mother's Friend is an external application prepared especially for expectant mothers after the formula of a noted family physician. It certainly has a wonderful effect in relieving tension brought about by expanding muscles, and is a most grateful encouragement to the woman awaiting motherhood.

The action of Mother's Friend makes muscles free, pliant and responsive. When baby arrives they expand easily, and pain and danger at the crisis is naturally less.

Strain upon the nerves and ligaments is lessened and in place of period of discomfort and consequent dread, it is a season of calm repose and happy anticipation.

Mother's Friend enables the mother to preserve her health and natural grace and she remains a pretty mother by having avoided the pain and suffering which more often than otherwise accompanies such an occasion when nature is unaided.

Write the Bradford Regulator Co., Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their "Motherhood Book," so valuable to expectant mothers, and in the meantime do not by any chance fail to purchase a bottle of Mother's Friend from the druggist and thus fortify yourself against pain and discomfort. Mother's Friend should be applied at night and morning with the utmost regularity.

PRICES ARE DOWN

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—A bullish corn crop report today by the export of a big brokerage house was inadequate to stem bearishness and the bulk of the moderate business was done at prices under yesterday's close. Provisions were dull and worked a little lower despite higher hogs. Pork closed 25c to 27c under yesterday's. Lard 2 1/2c down and ribs 5c lower.

IN EUROPE WHEN CAESAR LED AN ARMY

(By Capt. F. C. Taylor)

As a portion of the territory traversed by the army of Caesar during the Belgic war is the same that is now being fought over by the combined armies, it is interesting to note the more prominent cities and towns and their present names. Paris was Lutetia, Reims was Divodurum, Soissons was Noviodunum, Breteuil was Bratuspantium, Amiens was Samarobria, Arras was Nemetocenna, Boulogne was Iliis Portus, Sens was known as Agedincum, Chalons was Cabillonum.

Gaius Julius Caesar was born in Rome, Italy, July 12, 100 B. C. His family was of the aristocracy, tracing its origin back to Aeneas, the leader of the Trojan exiles and thru him to Venus, the goddess of Love and Beauty, and thus to Jupiter himself. Of his childhood little is known, but it is evident that the sympathy of the household was on the side of the democratic party. It is therefore inferred that from his earliest years he was accustomed to hear discussed the wrongs of the people and the tyranny of the aristocrats. He was a diligent student and when he had arrived at the age of thirty-two years he was chosen to a seat in the senate.

In person Caesar was tall and handsome. His health was perfect, kept so by active physical exercise and careful attention to hygienic laws as then understood.

As a friend he was steadfast to the end; as a foe, generous and forgiving, but one thing he could never overlook that was treachery. This was proven by his treatment of those in Gaul who endeavored to overreach him by violating promises or treaties. One of the best evidences of his nobility of character was his great love for his mother and his devotion to her as long as she lived.

Caesar's military skill and success, place him among the first half-dozen captains of the world. Without special training and with little previous experience, he raised and drilled an army that was simply invincible, whether pitted against the more numerous hordes of the Gauls and Germans, or the veteran legions of Pompey. These soldiers loved their great leader almost to idolatry; the long march, the hard labor of fortifying the camp, the hardship of the siege, were borne cheerfully for the general's sake.

Caesar's courage and self-confidence were unbounded. He never sent a soldier where he would not go himself, and he never faltered in his belief that victory would perch on his banner. Quick to see what was needed in an emergency and swift to move, he never lost a point of advantage, or failed to make the most of an enemy's mistake. With entire disregard of danger he was always in the thickest of the fight. Personally known to every soldier, and knowing most of them by name, he was thus enabled to bring home to each the responsibility resting upon him.

Caesar's army consisted of legions of infantry, auxiliary infantry and cavalry. The cavalry was made up of Germans, Gauls and Spaniards—who were disbanded at the end of each campaign. There was also a small corps of engineers, but the mechanical work was done as a rule by the soldiers themselves. The main strength of the army lay in the legions composing the legions. The total strength of the army was approximately ten thousand men. The legionary was forced to carry a burden of fifty pounds or more on the march. This consisted of his supply of food, cooking utensils, extra clothing, arms, helmet and shield. The average distance covered in a day's march was about fifteen miles. When the march for the day was done, a camp had to be built and fortified, and as there were few engineers the work was done by the legionary soldier. The fortification of the camp consisted of a wall six feet high and six feet wide on the top. There was around the wall a ditch nine feet wide and seven feet deep.

The Great West which Caesar went out to conquer in the year 58 B. C. may be roughly located as lying between the Pyrenees and the Rhine, the Mediterranean and the Atlantic. Cisalpine Gaul was thoroughly Romanized and entirely peaceful. On the southeast along the shore of the Mediterranean was the Roman province (Provincia) which had been won sixty years before Caesar's time. It was now all Roman and the center of Transalpine activity.

The Gaul that was still unsubdued, was divided into three parts—the Celtic, the Aquitanian and the Belgic. Aquitania was located in the southwest, between the Garumna, and the Pyrenees. The country of the Belgians was bounded by the Sequana, the Matrona and the Rhine. Celtic Gaul, the great central portion, had for its boundaries the Sequana, the Matrona and the Garumna. It is estimated that the average number of inhabitants to the square

May Benefit by the Remedy Mrs. Little Recommends for Nervousness

Whitman, Mass.—"I suffered from a nervous, run-down condition and loss of strength so it was hard for me to get around and do my work. After other medicines had failed to help me Vinol restored my health and strength and I heartily recommend it to any one suffering from a nervous, run-down condition."—Mrs. R. M. Little.

There is no secret about Vinol. It owes its success to beef and cod liver peptones, iron and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, the oldest and most famous body building tonics. We strongly recommend it. For sale by all druggists.

mile was at least fifty. It was the custom of all the Gauls to settle in communities or cantons, these were villages, of greater or less size, having no walls about them.

As warriors the Gauls were brave but untrained. Being extremely volatile by nature, they were roused to the highest pitch of enthusiasm by slight successes, or completely disheartened by slight reverses, and a single defeat was often sufficient to subdue a whole tribe. They fought in solid phalanx, which were so unwieldy that they fell an easy prey to Caesar's well trained soldiers. Their arms consisted of slings, bows and arrows, spears of various kinds, and long swords of soft iron. Little is known of the customs of the Gauls as regards dress, however, they were true to the fashion which was from a Roman point of view extremely barbaric.

The great religious system of Gaul was Druidism. This seems to have been the only unifying force in the land. The Druids, or priests, were a class set apart and highly honored by the people. All the learning of the time was monopolized by the Druids and they were exempted from war and taxation.

Caesar made two campaigns into Britain, but in neither did he penetrate the interior of the country. The conquest begun by Caesar was completed by his successors, and Britain remained a Roman province for four hundred years.

Germany was never conquered by the Romans. Caesar twice crossed the Rhine, but made little impression on the vast hordes who inhabited the interior. The German invaders of Gaul were driven back across their great river, but only to return again to the attack, thus setting at defiance the almost invincible power of Rome.

Caesar used his supreme power in a way very different from his predecessors. He at once set about repairing so far as he could the ravages of the civil wars, by making several laws which were designed to benefit the people. He reformed the Calendar, instituting the system which, with a slight modification is still in use. He also formed other great projects for the public welfare, but which he was destined not to carry out. In particular he had shown marked clemency to his political opponents; but for this he was ill repaid. A conspiracy to take his life was formed by a number of leading citizens, some of whom were his intimate friends. On March 15, in the year 44 B. C., he was attacked in the Senate-house and fell pierced with twenty-three wounds at the foot of the statue of his great rival, Pompey.

THE DRUIDS.

One of the Religious Sects Found in Gaul by Julius Caesar on His Invasion of that Country.

Druids were priests or ministers of religion among the ancient Gauls, Britons and Germans, who resembled in many respects, the brahmins of India. They were chosen out of the best families, and the honors of their birth, joined with those of their function, procured them the highest veneration among the people. They were versed in astrology, geometry, natural philosophy, politics and geography, they were the interpreters of all religious and judges of all affairs indifferently. Who ever refused obedience to them, was declared impious and accursed.

Little is known of their peculiar doctrines, only that they believed the immortality of the soul, and as is generally also supposed, the transmigration of it to other bodies; tho a late author makes it appear highly probable they did not believe this last, at least not in the sense of the Pythagoreans. The chief settlement of the druids in Britain was in the isle of Anglesey, the ancient Mona, which they might well choose for this purpose as it was covered with precious groves of their favorite oak. They were divided into several branches or classes, such as the priests, the poets, the judges, the civil judge and instructors of youth.

Their garments were remarkably long, and when employed in religious ceremonies, they likewise wore a white surplice. They generally carried a wand in their hands, and wore a kind of ornament, encased with gold, about their necks, called the druids egg. They had one chief, or arch-druid in every nation, who acted as high priest, or pontifex maximus. He had absolute authority over the rest and commanded, decreed and punished at pleasure.

They worshiped the supreme Being under the name of Esus or Hesus, and the symbol of the oak; and had no other temple than a wood or grove, where all their religious rites were performed. Nor was any person permitted to enter that sacred recess unless he carried with him a chain, in token of his absolute dependence on the Deity. Indeed their whole religion originally consisted in acknowledging that the supreme Being who made his abode in these sacred groves, governed the universe, and that every creature ought to obey his laws, and pay him divine homage. One writer however maintains that they were idolaters, and that the sun was the grand object of their worship. They considered the oak as the emblem, or rather the peculiar residence of the Almight, and accordingly chaplets of it were worn, both by the druids and the people, in their religious ceremonies; the altars were strewn with its leaves, and encircled with its branches. The fruit of it especially the mistletoe was thought to contain a divine virtue, and to be the peculiar gift of heaven. It was, therefore, sought for on the sixth day of the moon with the greatest earnestness and anxiety, and when found, was hailed with such rapture of joy, as almost exceeds imagination to conceive. As soon as the druids were informed of the fortunate discovery, they prepared everything ready for the sacrifice under the oak, (see Ezek. 6:12) to which they fastened two white bulls by the horns; then the arch-druid ascended the tree, dressed in white, and with a consecrated golden knife, or pruning hook, cropped the mistletoe, which he received in his robe, amid the rapturous exclamations of the people. Having secured this plant, he descended the tree, the bulls were sacrificed, and the deity invoked to bless His own gift, and render it efficacious in this distempers in which it should be administered. According to Caesar, they in some instances offered human victims, and that upon the conviction that human blood was required to atone for human guilt.

METHODISTS TO HOLD ANNUAL CONFERENCE

WILL MEET IN QUINCY THIS MONTH.

Bishop Leete Will be Presiding Officer—Sixteen Charges With Pastors Reports Show Laymen's Association Will Meet

The annual conference of the Methodist church will be held in Quincy, Sept. 18 to 23. This will be the 95th session of the conference and Bishop Frederic D. Leete will be the presiding officer. Saturday a pre-conference meeting of district superintendents was held in Decatur and Rev. E. L. Pletcher, superintendent for the Jacksonville district, was in attendance. Various matters relating to the coming conference were considered. One significant fact was brought out at this meeting that there are now sixteen charges in the conference without pastors. This condition is due quite largely to the war, a number of the younger ministers having entered the service. The report indicates what a shortage of ministers actually exists. Most of the ministers from Jacksonville and Morgan county will go to Quincy Tuesday, Sept. 17. On that day the board of examiners will meet and there will be evangelistic services in the business section of the city. The anniversary of the Epworth league will also be observed.

The program for the conference and the preceding day is given herewith, together with the program for the laymen's conference which will be held Sept. 20 and 21.

Lecture, Lieut. Russell of the Italian Army.

Saturday was another good day at the Chautauqua. Weather conditions were favorable and the attendance very large. At the morning session Prof. Gilbert gave a very instructive lecture on poultry, paying particular attention to the question of selecting hens for laying. Mrs. Alice S. Houston gave the final lecture of the excellent series which she has presented during the Chautauqua, her subject being "Planning Meals". In the afternoon a very strong address was made by Arthur W. Evans, whose subject was "The Lords of the Land". In the evening a business session was held when A. C. Rice, John W. Merrikan and Dr. J. R. Harker were unanimously chosen to succeed themselves as Chautauqua directors. At night a concert program was followed by a splendid exhibit in magic by the Dietrics. Altogether it was one of the most satisfactory days of the week.

This will be the final day of the 1918 Chautauqua and while unfavorable weather conditions have interfered with the financial success of this year, the program has been one of special excellence and patrons have been of unanimous mind in approving the selections made by the directors for the program. Today's events listed above promise to make this one of the most successful days of the series.

Lords of the Land.
Arthur W. Evans, Welsh orator and humorist, was heard in the afternoon, and that his address pleased the great audience was evidenced by the frequent applause. After expressing pleasure at again appearing before a Jacksonville audience, Mr. Evans announced that his theme would be "Lords of the Land." Among other things he said: "As I travel about the country I am seeking to overcome a false impression which exists about the English people—an impression for which German propagandists are largely responsible. The great rank and file of the English people are democratic at heart. In the great struggle in which we are now engaged we need to have greater confidence in England."

"In the great analysis there are just two classes and the greatest struggle of the ages has been between the men of blue blood and the man of red blood—aristocracy and democracy. I say to you that our ideas of aristocracy and nobility are going to change and instead of asking a man 'What has America done for you?' we will ask 'What have you done for America?' What is this democracy we hear so much about? It is nothing more or less than the practical application of the philosophy and religion of the Man of Galilee, the gospel of the square deal."

Aristocracy Trembling.
"Aristocracy is now trembling in the knees and is beginning to experience some of that fear which it has perpetrated upon the world in the last four years. If France, who has fought so gallantly were to give up in exhaustion, and if Italy who has held her own so well were also to cease fighting, do you think that that would finish the war and that the eagles of aristocracy would scream their triumph over the world. I say it would not, for the English speaking nations of the world, slow to anger and just as slow to give up, would stand together and fight this thing out if it took a thousand years or until the crack of doom, rather than that this spirit of autocracy should possess the world and every instinct of freedom for which our fathers fought be removed from it forever."

The Dietrics gave an excellent number which proved their right to the title "versatile entertainers."

The Grand Army.
The last number on the afternoon program was the appearance of the old soldiers and ladies of the Relief corps on the platform. The veterans present were Commander J. M. Swales, C. E. McDougall, Frank Wiggin, S. W. Maddox, W. D. McCormick, S. W. Nichols, J. C. Gillham, Robert Mawson, A. J. Taylor, J. Z. Smith, C. R. Taylor, Ezra Scott, I. L. Jordan, Benjamin Wood, Peter Lechleiter, John Brown, J. H. Roach, Bert Mauzy, John Minter, F. M. Coard, C. L. Maigrove, J. H. Rayhill, D. W. Howe.

Major McDougall presided and introduced Mrs. Van Sykle who sang with great acceptance "My Own United States" and "Emblem of the Free." Prof. Rayhill, a hero of two wars, was introduced and read an article showing that it was really Germany and not England that was responsible for the revolutionary war. Illness rendered him unable to recite as he desired. Capt. J. E. Wright sang with his old time fervor "Illinois" and "Marching Thru Georgia" and then with many complimentary remarks the chair introduced Commander Swales who delivered a splendid address suitable for the occasion.

Business Session.
In the evening a business meeting was called and Messrs. John Merrikan, A. C. Rice and J. R. Harker were unanimously chosen to succeed themselves as directors.

Prof. Gilbert said the Metropolitan Quartet had been disorganized by the war and in its stead the American quartet had been sent out, a fine organization equal to the other. The gentlemen appeared and certainly bore out all the good things said about them, giving a fine program ending with "The Star Spangled Banner."

The Dietrics.
The Dietrics gave the final number of the evening program. Their magic and music greatly pleased the audience. Children and young people had especially looked forward to this program and they were by no means disappointed.

Notes.
George R. Fox came all the way from Toledo, Ohio, to attend the Chautauqua and said he was well pleased and subscribed for tickets for next year.

Mr. Evans was especially delighted to meet Prof. Rayhill, a hero of the Crimean war and of our own civil war.

A. L. French, who recently returned from a visit in Rome, New York, was greatly impressed by the fine water system in use there. Rome is a city of about 25,000 population, the number of inhabitants having increased quite materially in the past few years because of the activity in the manufacture of munitions. Some years ago as the water supply was inadequate the citizens voted a bond issue amounting to nearly $400,000.

They then sent engineers up to the mountains 12 or 15 miles away, where a receiving reservoir was constructed. It was necessary to tunnel thru rock for a considerable distance and then the water was taken thru pipe lines for the remaining distance. There is a considerable fall between the source of supply and the city, so that there is at all times plenty of pressure. It is spring water of fine quality and so is available for all general usages. As a natural result with such a splendid water supply the sanitary and health conditions in Rome are excellent.

OBITUARY.

Thomas W. Hennessey was born in Jacksonville, February 10, 1869, and resided in this city until his death, which occurred Aug. 11, 1918. Aug. 10 Mr. Hennessey was taken ill while performing his regular daily duties. Upon reaching his home medical aid was summoned and everything was done to relieve his suffering. Sunday morning his condition was greatly improved, but later in the day he again became critically ill and was removed to Our Savior's hospital, where his death occurred soon afterward. Mr. Hennessey was a faithful member of the Church of Our Savior and was at one time a member of the Catholic Cadet band, of which Mr. Jeffries was the leader. He received his education at the parochial school in this city and afterward attended Brown's Business college.

In 1890 Mr. Hennessey was united in marriage to Miss Anna Gaull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Gaull, of Alexander. To this union were born five children, all of whom survive, with his aged mother. Mr. Hennessey's life was marked by devotion to his family and sincere regard for his friends. He was possessed of an upright character and performed his religious and civic duties as a man should. The faithful manner in which he performed his daily work is shown by the fact that he was employed at the C. P. & St. L. shops for a period of twenty-six years, twelve years of this time serving as foreman. He had the reputation of being one of the best foremen in the service of the company and was an expert mill man. The sudden death of Mr. Hennessey brings a sense of loss to his employers and to his co-workers, but especially to his family, who have the sympathy of their many friends in their bereavement.

The funeral took place Wednesday morning, August 14, at the Church of Our Savior. The remains were escorted to Calvary cemetery by the Loyal Order of Moose, of which deceased was the first member to die since the organization, five years ago, and also by the employees of the C. P. & St. L. shops.

FUEL ADMINISTRATION GASOLINE REQUEST

The fuel administration's request that the public refrain from the use of gasoline for automobile driving today except in cases of necessity continues to be a theme of discussion. The administration has indicated that unless there is a general compliance with the request that an order will be given. There is the suggestion too, that if there is general compliance that within a few weeks' time there will be a sufficient accumulation of gasoline for war purposes to warrant the withdrawal of the Sunday request.

For the information of the public, in order to permit each individual to settle this matter with his or her own conscience, the telegram sent by M. F. Dunlap, local fuel administrator, and the reply received together with a letter just received by Frank J. Heinel, member of the board of directors of the chautauqua, are given. An Associated Press news telegram is also given space.

Jacksonville, Ill., Aug. 29, '18. U. S. Fuel Administrator, Chicago, Ill.

Jacksonville Chautauqua wish to know if farmers and other visiting Chautauqua Sunday next in automobiles, will be regarded as violating gasoline rules.

M. F. Dunlap, Fuel Administrator, Chicago, Ill., Aug. 29, 1918. Fuel Administrator Dunlap, Jacksonville Ill.

Discontinuation of Sunday driving is a request not to be enforced except by the conscience and patriotism of individuals. Failure of general observance will make mandatory regulation imperative.

Roy Durham, Fuel Administrator.

The Coit-Alber Independent Chautauqua Company, Chicago, Illinois, August 20, 1918.

Mr. Frank J. Heinel, Jacksonville, Illinois.

The fuel administrator Mr. Almart, informs me over the telephone that it is all right for farmers who cannot use the interurban or street railway or train service same in their automobiles on Sunday. In addition to that, this is a patriotic matter and not a government order. Any one can do as they like about the matter, except they ought to be patriotic of course, but in a case of this kind, in regard to attending chautauqua in their automobiles, they feel it is all right for them to pursue their regular custom.

Yours very truly,
Coit-Alber Chautauqua Company,
O. B. Stephenson,
Secy-Treas.

(By The Associated Press.) Washington, Aug. 30. — The ban on the use of gasoline on Sundays for motor vehicles and boats will apply only to pleasure riding, Fuel Administrator Garfield announced today. He said reasonable use of gasoline driven vehicles for necessary purposes was not intended to be prohibited.

"The request made by the fuel administration," said a statement issued by the administration, "that pleasure riding be discontinued on Sundays for the present in order to conserve our supply of gasoline for war needs was not intended to prohibit reasonable use of gasoline driven vehicles as a means of necessary transportation where no other means are available."

"Mr. Garfield believes that the public will construe the request wisely and intelligently, and will not use their automobiles for other than the most necessary purposes."

"The United States fuel administration will not attempt to tabulate automobile traffic on Sunday."

PATRIOTISM IS CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

So Says New York Man Who Has Been Overseas in Y. M. C. A. Work—Lots of Work, Good Hours and Good Food is Cure He Recommends.

There's a combination that ordinarily wouldn't occur to a sufferer even after he had tried all the remedies prescribed by loving friends. And yet it worked in the case of Fred P. Stafford of Briarcliffe, N. Y. Mr. Stafford recently returned from service with the American Expeditionary Forces in France, where he was a member of the motor transport service of the Y. M. C. A. He thus tersely presents the following testimonial to the efficacy of the "cure."

"The work of the drivers has a real kick in it. Much of it is done at night without lights and the nerve and ingenuity of the drivers are taxed to the limit. I've been caught in shell fire and gas attacks, but drove out all right. The thrill lingers, however. The work is absolutely healthy. With three good meals a day and plenty of sleep, men get in wonderfully good condition within a short time. During the last winter I was cured of a long standing attack of rheumatism by stinking overhauling at the work."

Will Aid in Recruiting
Mr. Stafford has returned to America with the single purpose of adding in the recruiting of five hundred much needed drivers and expert mechanics for the motor transport service, on which rests the entire Y. M. C. A. structure which has been created at the request of General Pershing to provide for the comfort of the American fighting man when he is off duty.

"Unlike the army and navy," said Mr. Stafford yesterday at his desk in the offices of the Y. M. C. A. War Council, 317 Madison avenue, New York, "the 'Y' will enlist men who have physical defects which would bar them from active service. For service overseas these men must be over draft age. That's how I got into the 'Y' work. I am over military age and before I took the treatment in France I had a rheumatic tendency that was exceedingly irritating at times."

"But now that is all gone. Great as is my satisfaction at the cure, greater even is the feeling of satisfaction stirred by the knowledge that any man who is physically able, except from some minor disability, to stand up under conditions in France may do his part toward the winning of the war."

Most Important Branch.

"One of the most important branches of the service to which such men are eligible is the Y. M. C. A. motor transport service. The chocolate, cigarettes, tobacco, gum safety razors and the hundred and one other comforts which the fighting men desire thousands of miles from home, reach them thru the Y. M. C. A. huts. If the transport service falls down, those boys must go without things that they need. There are now about 500 men in France in this service, and 500 more are needed at once. The greatest need is for expert mechanics, men who can do more than make the minor road repairs which almost any driver in this country can make."

"As a result of the lack of these garage mechanics, 200 trucks were out of commission when I left France, reducing the efficiency of the service by at least one third. If I could get into the large garages and machine shops of the country and talk to the men, if I could tell them man to man the story of the need, their patriotism would be aroused to a pitch that would insure the recruiting of all the men we need. After the war the 'Y' mechanics will reap the rewards of their patriotic service. In addition to the honor of family and friends, the mechanic will return with a diploma that will insure his industrial future."

Boston, left yesterday for Greeley, Colo., accompanied by Mr. Hall, and they will make that city their home. Mr. Hall determined some time since to remove to Colorado on account of the climate, and his leaving was hastened by a telegram from Judge Robert C. Strong, district judge, asking him to take a position as court stenographer at once. Mr. Hall is thoroughly experienced in this line of work. The many Jacksonville friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Hall regret that they are to make their home in the west. Circuit Clerk Boston said yesterday that arrangements had been made for filling Mr. Hall's position in the circuit clerk's office.

MOTOR APPARATUS SHOWS BIG SAVING

Chief Hunt Gives Figures for Past Year Showing Cost of Operating Motor Fire Apparatus—Cost of Feed for One Horse for Month Almost as Much as Cost Motor Truck for Year.

Just one year ago today the two motor fire trucks were placed in active service in the fire department. Chief Hunt has compiled some interesting figures in a report to Commissioner Martin, showing the relative cost of the motor trucks and horse driven equipment.

During the twelve months just past the department responded to 133 alarms. This is an unusual number of calls compared to former years. The following figures are taken from Chief Hunt's report.

Truck No. 1 used 150 gallons of gasoline, nine and one half quarts of oil and five pounds of tallow.

Truck No. 2 used 155 gallons of gasoline, seven quarts of oil and five pounds of tallow. The total cost of upkeep which includes only the gasoline, oil and tallow at prevailing prices is $74.65. The total cost for horses for the year prior to the installation of the trucks was $2,000. This included feed, shoeing and veterinary bills. This shows a difference of $1,925.35 saving thru the installation of the motor trucks.

In making his report the chief did not figure depreciation. However, the depreciation on horses is much greater than it would be on motor apparatus. His main object is to show the difference in cost between the upkeep of motor and horse driven fire apparatus.

The motor trucks were made by the American LaFrance Fire Engine Company. There has never been an alarm since their installation that they have not been ready to go and to go promptly. Speed in responding to alarms since they have been put in service has stopped several conflagrations that otherwise would have proved a serious nature.

Chief Hunt's report shows that there have never been any repairs necessary on either truck thus the only cost has been for gasoline, oil and tallow.

One splendid feature about the motor apparatus is the system of inspection that is maintained by the American LaFrance Company. The company maintains a service system and at stated intervals an expert visits cities which have the company's apparatus and gives it a thorough overhauling. Upon the last visit of the representative here he reported both trucks in excellent shape.

MAY NOT NAME NEW CITY COMMISSIONER

While the commission form of government law suggests that in case of a vacancy in a city commission, that the remaining members shall choose a man to fill the vacancy, it is possible that the city council will not select anyone to take the place of the late Commissioner Cox. Any appointment made would continue only for a period of about 8 months, as the terms of office of the present council expire next May. In view of the fact that the people of Jacksonville have voted to change from the commission form of government to the aldermanic form, some of the commissioners are said to incline to the view that it would be the course of wisdom to make no appointment and to arrange for having the affairs of the street department managed in conjunction with one of the other departments during the remaining few months the present commissioners are to serve.

This popular young American singer made his debut in "The Girl of the Golden West," and afterward was engaged to sing the leading part in Pinafore at the New York Hippodrome. He has a voice of marvelous beauty and is heard everywhere with great enthusiasm.

Mr. Dalhart was born in Texas and spent the first sixteen years of his life on a cattle ranch. Then he was employed in a Dallas hardware store. While in the latter city a vocal teacher accidentally heard him singing and induced him to go to New York to cultivate his voice. There he completed an extensive course of training and is now known as one of the most popular of the American born singers.

Cards for admission to the recital may be secured free of charge by application to Brady Bros. Admittance will be by card only.
